

Georgia Homeschool Portfolio Checklist

Work down this list once a term and the annual review stops being an event.

Student: _____

School year: _____

☐ A dated log of educational activities

What you covered and which subject it served, written as you go. Reconstructing a year of this in the week before a review is the single most common portfolio scramble.

☐ A reading list, by title

Every book and material named. This is the piece families most often rebuild from memory, and the piece a reviewer can check fastest.

☐ Samples of your student's work

Writings, worksheets, workbooks, and creative work. A few pieces per subject spread across the year reads as evidence; a stack from one good week does not.

☐ The assessment or evaluation record

Georgia requires standardized testing. Keep the result filed with the portfolio rather than loose, since the two get asked for together.

☐ Your hours record

Georgia sets an hours requirement, and the portfolio is where the evidence that you met it usually gets shown.

☐ A copy of anything you filed

Your notice of intent and any correspondence with the district, dated. If a question ever comes up, dated proof that you filed on time closes it.

What Georgia requires

Each year, a parent writes a brief progress report in every required subject for each child. Georgia law asks that these annual reports be kept at home for at least three years; they aren't turned in unless requested.

Building this by hand every spring? Homeschool Fox keeps your samples, reading list, and hours together as you go. Start free at homeschoolfox.com.